

Visual Harmony: Visual Art Interprets Performing Art

From Degas to Pollack, artists have both represented and been inspired by the performing arts. Whether depicting a dancer, listening to jazz while painting, creating sets or costumes for a play - all arts are important and inspiring. MFA and Maryland Hall for the Creative Arts are partnering on an exhibition to celebrate the overlap between visual and performing art. MFA invites all artists residing in the United States, Canada and Mexico to enter any 2-D or 3-D work depicting, representing, or inspired by performing arts to be considered by juror Yumi Hogan. Work selected by the juror will hang in the Chaney and Martino Galleries at Maryland Hall for the Creative Arts from January 10 to March 2, 2019.
